As Dorsett & Jackson hits 65 years this coming 2020, we are thrilled to announce as of September 1, 2019 the employees officially own 100% of Dorsett & Jackson with the final sale of Don Witteman' stock.

We are also excited to announce the following changes in our corporate structure. Ryan Yokoyama is now the President of Dorsett & Jackson, Christine Tangen will continue as our VP of Operations and Board of Directors Corporate Secretary and Don Witteman will remain a Board Member. There is also a new addition to the Dorsett & Jackson Board of Directors; Michelle Pak, who has been with Dorsett & Jackson 16 years, will serve as our Corporate Treasurer.

Ryan Yokoyama and Christine Tangen are continuing to grow Dorsett & Jackson into a leading US Western Distributor, with an incredible long standing relationship with our principals and customers.

About Dorsett & Jackson, Inc:

Some history on the company throughout the years, Dorsett & Jackson started in 1955 with Bob Dorsett & Hartley Jackson purchasing a Southern California branch of the C.L. Duncan Company. In 1968 Don Witteman, Paul Grubs and Romer Johnson entered an agreement to purchase the company and completed their purchase in 1977. In 2013 Don, Paul and Romer started the process to sell the company back to the employees through a modified employee stock ownership program. For the last 40 years, the three owners created a team that is instrumental in the success of the company.

With Ryan Yokoyama leading the sales and technical staff, and Christine Tangen managing the daily operations, they have created a team that is remarkable in this industry. We are all very excited for the future of Dorsett and Jackson and the continued success with our principals and customers.
